PRR OFFERS DEAL TO UNION

School Days, School Days

Eight-year-old third grader Tommy Blessing, of 561 Rosewood Avenue, Langhorne, signs up for the opening day of Neshaminy District schools this morning. Taking the youngster's registration form is teacher Mrs. Clayton Erwin. The school is located at Cherry St. and Maple Ave., Langhorne. (Courier-Times Photo)

Moscow Unveils 2 Missing Yanks

Slam Policies Of U.S.

MOSCOW (UPI)—Two missing junior mathematicians employed by the United States National Security Agency turned up in Moscow today and announced to a news conference they had defected to the Soviet Union.

The pair, Bernon F. Mitchell, 31, and William H. Martin, 29, both bachelors and U.S. Navy veterans had disappeared in the United States June 24.

They told 200 Soviet and foreign newsmen they defected because of United States espionage activities. They cited reconnaissance flights, alleged interception of secret messages of U.S. allies and recruitment of agents from among employes of its allies.

In one of two statements with which they opened the conference Mitchell and Martin charged the U. S. government "knowingly makes false and deceptive statements to defend its own policy and condemn the actions of other nations."

They said they were becoming Soviet citizens and hoped to do scientific work in Russia.

Mitchell and Martin said they had decided to defect "over a year ago."

They said they felt they would be able to do research in Russia "without fear of causing economic damage to others."

"We consider that from a social point of view we shall feel happier," they said.

After reading the two state-

Would OK 23 Issues

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The strike-bound Pennsylvania Railroad has proposed to dispose of the 27 unresolved issues by signing the agreement on 23 and settling the remaining four by arbitration or agreement if the unions will end their six-day walkout.

James M. Symes, PRR board chairman, said in a telegram sent last night to six governors and 11 mayors, the railroad "would be willing, provided the strike is called off immediately, to sign up on the 23 issues tentatively agreed upon and to settle the remaining four issues by submitting three of them to final and binding arbitration."

Symes said the remaining issue, which he described as a jurisdictional dispute between unions, can be worked out by the contesting unions and the company will accept their decision.

Symes said that "inasmuch as" Michael J. Quill, president of the Transport Workers Union, "seems to be the public spokesman for the labor unions involved, a copy of the telegram is being sent to him."

But a spokesman at the TWU headquarters here, when asked for comment on the PRR's proposals, said "this telegram, if there was such a thing, has not been received by Mr. Quill."

Proposals Contained

Symes' telegram, containing the proposals for settling the strike of 20,000 maintenance workers which has shutdown the nation's largest railroad, was in answer to a plea issued last week by the governors and mayors uriging the negotiators to aim for a settlement of the three year dispute by the week end.

"The national mediation board is still meeting with negotiation committees," the telegram said, "but little if any progress is now being made because of irresponsible and immovable attitudes of the unions on certain issues.

"Quill has publicly announced that he will not yield on any issues in the dispute; that the strike would not be settled over the week end but will be of long duration.

"Before the strike deadline, understanding had been reached by the negotiating committees on

Middletown Gets Planning Work OK

Gov. David L. Lawrence today approved a contract for comprehensive planning work in Middletown Township that will involve $5,050 in Federal and local funds.

Acting on a recommendation from the State Commerce Department, Gov. Lawrence cleared the way for work to start on a 12 month comprehensive community planning project for the Bucks County community.

"The rapid growth of Bucks County in recent years makes it imperative that extensive community planning be undertaken in order that proper use may be made of all land available for future development," Gov. Lawrence said.

Planning Needed

"We are making great strides in bringing new industries into Bucks County, and the potential exists for even greater growth in most of the present communities.

"The money made available under this contract will be used in Middletown Township where an adequate planning program is urgently needed." he added.

Middletown Township Manager Charles Melchior said this morning that he expects work on the plans to begin immediately.

State Commerce Secretary William R. Davlin said that under the contract, the Bucks County Planning Commission would act as consultant and will supervise a work program that includes study of existing land use, study of land capable for development, study of roads and highways, preparation of a future land use plan, development of a major thoroughfare plan.

Good Evening!

Back to life in earnest.

Long, long Labor Day weekend couldn't have been shorter.

And that merry laughter all over the place this morning came from the young fry advance guard trekking happily back to the classrooms. By week's end education will be operating again.

That long, deep, satisfied sigh of relief came from ma.

Pennsy strike squeeze beginning and it's bound to get worse day by day. Right at the moment it's hard to get a letter channeled along the easy line between two points. The mail, that is.

PRR Board Chairman Symes has made what anybody should consider a reasonable proposal. Submit three major issues to final and binding arbitration and the Pennsy will sign on 23 other issues.

This is one Mike Quill should accept pronto. But he probably won't, despite the probability that 95 per cent of his rank and file union members would be for it.

Speaking of messes, that's a real one building up in the Congo.

Anarchy and civil war appear inevitable as the rival political chieftains begin swinging harder at each other, with Russia doing everything possible to prevent any reasonable settlement of the difficulties.

And Hurricane Donna still swinging with a near-miss at Puerto Rico.

All we can do is hope she'll swing toward the sea. We had a couple of big winds here once. They were enough.

The average man's idea of interior decoration is a square meal.

One of the things that prevents a lot of people from enjoying the country's wild life is the high cover charge.

If at first you don't succeed, you're like most other people.

Take it easy with the driving.

Lower Bucks Pupils Start School Trek

Students in record numbers, facing the inevitable with great courage, began today to trek back to Lower Bucks County schools.

By week's end, all area schools will be open, but the largest number of youngsters to go back are some 9,300 who started this morning in the Neshaminy School District, and another 10,000, approximately, who will begin in Bristol Township and Delhaas Joint Schools on Thursday.

The Neshaminy district youngsters were scheduled to start at 8 o'clock this morning in the junior and senior high school and at 9 o'clock in the elementary schools.

Bristol Township

In Bristol Township the students will go back to junior and senior high schools at 8:30 a.m., while the elementary school youngsters will start at 9:15 a.m.

About 900 children will return to Bristol Borough's two elementary schools at 9 a.m. tomorrow. The junior - senior high school in the borough will open at 8:10 tomorrow morning, with about 775 students attending.

All area parochial schools also are scheduled to start tomorrow. Bishop Egan High School and most parochial elementary schools will begin at 9 o'clock.

Bishop Egan

At Bishop Egan only ninth graders will return tomorrow. Tenth, eleventh and twelfth grade students will begin Thursday.

In Bensalem Township, some 3,500 pupils also will go back to school on Thursday.

Elementary students will begin

Ike Labels 2 'Tratitors'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said today that President Eisenhower regards the two young mathematicians for the National Security Agency who defected to Russia as "self-confessed traitors."

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty was asked whether the government had any advance knowledge of the plans of Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin to defect to the Communists. The two National Security Agency employes showed up today in Moscow.

"Let's change the word defectors to self-confessed traitors," Hagerty said.

Hagerty said it would not be appropriate for him in his White House post "to have any statement at all on any statements made by self - confessed traitors."

A reporter asked what President Eisenhower's reaction was on learning that Martin and Mitchell had shown up in Moscow.

"I think I've given you the President's reaction," Hagerty said.

"He regards them as self-confessed traitors?" a newsman asked.

"Yes, don't you?" Hagerty replied.

Olympic Thrillers

Herb Elliott Wins, Davis Sets Record

ROME, Sept. 6 (UPI) — World record-holder Herb Elliott ran away from the field to win the Olympic 1,500-meter championship by 20 yards today on the heels of a world record of :44.9 seconds in the 400-meter thrilled by Yankee Otis Davis.

Elliott, the lanky Australian who trained on a health food diet, won in the new world record time of 3:35.6, breaking by four-tenths of a second his own two-year-old international standard.

Elliott took the lead with two laps to go and simply ran the rest of the nine-man field into the bronze-colored track in the "metric mile" feature of the Olympic track and field program.

A roaring crowd of 40,000 setting under a lead grey sky, watched two thrilling races in a row.

Elliott's feat came moments after Davis cracked the 400-meter 45-second barrier—akin to the shattering of the 4-minute mile.

Michael Jazy of France was second far back up the track to Elliott in the glamour 1,500-meter event with third place to Istvan Rozsavolgyi of Hungary.

The 22-year-old Elliott's feat was equal to a 3:52.6 clocking for the mile run.

Dyrol Burleson and Jim Greille, both of the University of Oregon, were back in the field.

finish as Germany's Carl Kaufmann lunged desperately at the tape.

The 6-foot, one-inch yank, who had set an olympic record of :45.5 seconds in the semifinals, was off poorly at the gun and caught Kaufmann only at the head of the stretch. Davis surged to a one-yard lead but then the German came on again and they were head and head all the way in the final yards.

A one-time basketball player, the lanky Davis leaped and jumped on the infield when he received word that he had won the photo finish and cracked the 45-second

10,595 New Voters Sign; GOP Leads

The Bucks County registration rolls have been increased by 10,595 voters, most of them Republicans, since the April 26 primary elections.

The total registration when last calculated a week ago was 132,266.

The county's traveling registrars are touring Bucks County until Saturday, Sept. 17 to enroll new voters for the Nov. 8 Presidential election. The last day to register is Monday, Sept. 19 in the courthouse, Doylestown.

The new voters, and those reinstated, include: 5,732 Republicans; 4,262 Democrats, 359 of no party, and 242 listed as Independent and of other parties.

New Delhaas Section Ready For Opening

Delhaas High School authorities said today that the new 19-room section built to replace rooms lost in a fire in February, 1959, will be ready for use when the school opens Thursday.

The replacement section, which has been under construction for several months, was built at a cost of $481,930.

Pleasant Weather To Linger In Bucks

Pleasant weather will continue in the Lower Bucks area throughout the remainder of today and more of the same is forecast for tomorrow.

The mercury today will reach a comfortable 80 degrees and will climb a couple degrees higher tomorrow, according to the weatherman.

Mostly clear skies and pleasant weather was forecast for Pennsylvania, today, tonight and tomorrow.

Temperatures, which reached a high of 80 in this area yesterday, will drop to 55 or 60 degrees tonight.

Answers Kasavubu's Speech

Premier Tries To Fire President Of Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Premier Patrice Lumumba's government formally tried to fire President Joseph Kasavubu today and warned the United Nations and other countries not to help him.

A communique issued after an all-night meeting was Lumumba's answer to Kasavubu's radio speech Sunday night firing the premier. But who will go and who will stay still is uncertain.

Kasavubu promptly won the backing of President - Premier Moise Tshombe of the secessionist Katanga Province. Tshombe read a statement to a hastily summoned news conference in the Katanga capital of Elisabethville, saying that Kasavubu's action in dismissing Lumumba was "perfectly constitutional."

Tshombe said this constitutionality was proved by the fact that "Lumumba no longer has a majority in parliament." He claimed that Lumumba had ignored the constituted authorities of the country by his recent actions. He added that by Lumumba's appeal to the constitution of a "popular government" he "had shown beyond doubt the Communist objectives which had been the aim of his politics during the past two months."

Closes Airfields

The United Nations, meanwhile, closed every airfield in the Congo, but diplomatic sources said four Russian planes succeeded in taking off for unknown destinations

Mother Tells Of Treatment

Bristol Murder Suspect Had Been Under Psychiatric Care

Franklin Delano Williamson, 18-year-old youth accused of killing an eight-year-old boy last week in Bristol Borough, has been under psychiatric care for the past year, his mother revealed today.

He has been visiting Dr. Peter Dumas, a psychiatrist with offices in Croydon every Tuesday afternoon since last September, Mrs. Betty Williamson, the mother, said.

"Sick Boy"

"He definitely was a sick boy," she told the Courier-Times. "I feel that it is only fair to the community and the boy himself to reveal this."

Williamson has been charged with the murder of eight-year-old Marcus Johnson, 912 Court F, Bristol Terrace II, who was beaten to death and stabbed near the tow-path on the old canal behind the Kaiser No. 2 plant in Bristol last Thursday.

The accused youth, a former high-school and youth-league baseball star, is being held in the Bucks County Jail on a charge of murder. A further hearing before Justice of the Peace Eugene Spadaccino of Bristol will be scheduled later this week.

Mrs. Williamson also revealed that Jack Sirott of Bristol has been retained as defense attorney for her son.

Goes To Crime Lab

Meanwhile, County Detective Chief Clarence Irwin left Doylestown for the state police crime lab in Harrisburg with the three-foot-long tree branch with which police believe little Marcus was clubbed to death. A fractured skull was listed as actual cause of death although Marcus also had been stabbed four times.

The club, bloodstained and battered, was found beside Marcus' body when police arrived. Marcus was still alive although he was unconscious and died before doctors could reach him.

Police say that Williamson has been identified by several of the six youths with whom Marcus left his home Wednesday morning to go swimming in the Delaware Canal. Two of those six boys were Marcus' brothers, Aaron, 12, and Rufus, 10.

Lost Wallet

Marcus was lured from the group by a "big boy" with a story about a lost wallet, and taken into the thick undergrowth

Labor Day Drivers Slow Down To Cut Death Toll

Day School To Conduct Open House

The Valley Day School for Emotionally Disturbed Children is holding open house tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at its new location, the Langhorne School on West Maple Ave. in Langhorne. The Board of Directors, the Professional Advisory Board and the teaching staff will be present to greet parents and visitors. Among the guests who have promised to attend the ceremonies at the school are many professional people active in Mental Health and Education Circles in this and neighboring communities.

There are 16 children registered for the school at present. Sol Sobsey will supervise one of the classrooms and Mrs. Katherine Priestly will supervise the other. Two assistant teachers, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Korischmaryk will work with the teachers.

The Valley Day School is operated on a non-profit basis, dependent on the nominal tuition of its pupils and donations from the Bucks County Commissioners, the National League for the Mentally Ill and various local organizations. The teachers are the only members of the professional staff who are paid; all others donate their services.

The aim of the school is to develop the child to the point where he will be able to enter or return to the public school system and function under normal school conditions. Some of the children who have attended the Valley Day School have successfully reentered the public school system, Day School officials noted.

Eastern States Championship

Bracken Corps To Give $1,325 In Prize Money

The Bracken Cavaliers, champion junior drum and bugle corps from Bristol's American Legion post, last night announced that they will give away $1,325 in an effort to raise money.

The $1,325 will be prize money for some visiting corps to take home from the 11th annual Eastern States Championship competition Sept. 17 at Bristol High field. The Cavaliers, as host corps at this competition, cannot compete for the prize money.

The winning drum and bugle corps in the competition also will be awarded the Murray C. Hotchkiss trophy, donated by the executive vice-president and co-publisher of the Courier-Times.

Proceeds from the competition will be used to send the Cavaliers to the American Legion national championships at Miami, Fla., in October.

The first corps to accept an invitation to the Sept. 17 Eastern States Championship has been one from Dumont, N. J., a 36-member corps with a 12-man color guard. More than a dozen units are expected to compete, with competition both in the afternoon and the evening of that date.

Tickets to the competition are available from any member of the Robert W. Bracken post or the Cavaliers.

Bracken's Cavaliers already are state champion junior corps of both the American Legion and VFW.

Westinghouse Offers Pact

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Westinghouse Electric Corp. today proposed for 64,000 employes a new three year contract which two union officials promptly characterized as a "cruel hoax."

The company said the proposal would give employes higher wages and broader job opportunity plus other benefits. It was handed to the four unions with which Westinghouse bargains nationally.

Al Hartnett, secretary-treasurer of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (IUE), and Robert Nellis, chairman of the IUE National Westinghouse Conference Board, said the proposal was a "cruel hoax designed to wipe out workers' gains through the elimination of cost-of-living adjustments."

"The nature of the Westinghouse proposal comes as no surprise to us," the two union officials said. "It is a bad carbon copy of the General Electric proposal made last week to our union and does not even measure up to this meager and unrealistic offer which has already been rejected by the IUE negotiating team and membership."

The Westinghouse proposal, made after five weeks of negotiations, was given to the IUE, the Federation of Westinghouse Independent Salaried Unions, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America.

Robert D. Blaiser, vice president in charge of industrial relations, said the program was "designed to meet the desire for greater security which our own studies and those of the unions with which we bargain have indicated is foremost in the minds of Westinghouse employes."

The company said the three-year agreement, which would run to Oct. 15, 1963, would replace the present agreement which concludes its fifth year next Oct. 15.

Palouian Arrested On Gun Charge

Masis Palouian, 36, of 4344 Old Lincoln Highway, Trevose, has been held for a hearing in Philadelphia, pending a mental examination for carrying a loaded revolver without a permit.

Bucks County Sheriff Harold Dando on Sunday attended a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Matthew Zargoski and said the gun permit issued by his office early this year was revoked a week later.

Six Bullets

Palouian was arrested on the street by Philadelphia police who said he carried a loaded revolver with six bullets and a belt with additional cartridges.

Palouian was held in default of bail and sent to the Philadelphia General Hospital for a mental examination. The hearing was continued to Monday.

Palouian achieved notice in Lower Bucks County for his one-man crusade against a proposed Bensalem Township ordinance requiring persons to obtain a permit to move from the Township. He began a flag-waving crusade in Doylestown, Harrisburg and Washington which resulted in his being arrested for desecrating the flag and acquitted.

After Palouian received a gun permit in the Bucks County Sheriff's office the permit regulations were made more severe to require a check into the applicant's police record.

Congo

Sunday night and early today.

Later, U.N. forces blocked Leopoldville Airport by driving trucks and placing oil drums on the field.

With Kasavubu and Lumumba struggling to strip each other of power, the showdown struggle threatened to catch U.N. troops in the middle of an all-out Congo civil war.

Deep-seated ideological and political differences between the two men, simmering since before The Congo gained independence from Belgium June 30, exploded into the open Monday night when each ordered the other ousted from office.

It appeared that the man who could control the deeply divided Legislature and the wavering loyalties of the unruly Congolese army would emerge the winner but would inherit a country near anarchy.

Kasavubu called on the United Nations to take over internal security.

Williamson was arrested that same evening by Burlington, N.J., police after a toll collector on the Bristol - Burlington bridge had recognized him from a description provided by the boys, chief point of which was the fact that two of his front teeth were missing.

He confessed later that night, Chief of Police Vincent Faragalli of Bristol said.

Motive for the crime was not revealed. According to Faragalli, Williamson, when asked about this, quoted a purported verse from the Bible. Faragalli, however, would not reveal the verse.

Meanwhile, little Marcus was to be buried early this afternoon, with funeral services held in the Mennonite Church on Logan Ave., Croydon.

Boro Library Friends To Discuss Finances

Friends of the Bristol Library will meet tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. in the Warren Snyder elementary school, Buckley St. near Beaver, William White, public relations chairman for the group, announced today.

Members of the organization will discuss ways of raising additional finances for the Bristol Borough library, which so far has been supported solely through a private grant.

Strick Firm Names PR Representative

Sol Katz, president of Strick Trailer Company, of Philadelphia announced today that Arthur B. Shanefelt, public relations consultant, and a Levittown resident, has been placed in charge of the truck trailer and container manufacturer's public relations program. The firm is presently building a new plant on Route 1 in Falls Township.

The company produces truck trailers and trailer - size containers for use in through - route interchange among railroads, trucking companies, air and steamship lines.

Shenefelt maintains offices in New York and previously served there with the New York Times and the Associated Press. He is chairman of the public relations committee of the Traffic Club of New York. He resides at 279 Snowball Drive.

PRR Agrees

23 of the 27 proposals made by the union.

"One of the four remaining issues involved a jursidictional claim by one of the striking unions to certain pipe work being performed by employes represented by a non-striking railroad union," Symes said.

"We would prefer to dispose of all issues at one time and in one package," the telegram said.

Copies of the telegram were made available at a news conference shortly before PRR President A. J. Greenough, in a televised address, criticized Quill for prolonging the strike and for the TWU president's planned tour of the 46 striking locals along the Pennsy's 10,000-mile system extending through 13 states.

Greenough said "the only way the issues can be settled is by negotiations across the bargaining table or binding arbitration — and yet Quill proposes to travel about the country making speeches."

The PRR president said "we firmly believe that the Congress of the United States should give the President authority to compel binding arbitration in a dispute of this kind."

This was the third time in the last two days that the possibility of Congressional action was mentioned.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said in Washington that the TWU has ignored the "public interest" and warned that if such actions continue, "some forces in this country are going to demand that Congress give the federal government power to arbitrate major labor disputes.

This drew a sharp blast from Quill who branded the secretary of labor as a "stooge of the Eisenhower administration" and charged the railroad is "waiting for Mitchell and the administration to break the strike."

The fiery labor leader also said Mitchell "lied four times when he said we were irresponsible; that I don't understand the railway labor act; that the railroad has given everything; and that we don't represent the nation's railroad workers."

Quill said in New York, where he attended a Labor Day parade, he was "mobilizing all labor in a battle to the finish" to win the strike against the Pennsy. He said he met with top labor officials, who were not identified, in New York to gather support.

United Fund Names Division Chairman

General Campaign Chariman for the Lower Bucks United Fund, John Catzin, announced today the appointment of Otto Grupp, III, as Chairman for the Public Division.

Grupp will be responsible for the solicitation of postal employes, other Federal employes, military personnel employes, employes of townships and other municipalities and non-profit organizations.

Civilian and military employes of the U.S. Naval Air Development Center at Johnsville are included in the Public Division and have perennially established one of the highest levels of giving among employe groups.

Grupp is a partner in the insurance firm of Johnson, Grupp, Kendall and Johnson. His professional associations include the Philadelphia Life Underwriters Association and he is a member of the Bristol Rotary Club.

Mr and Mrs. Grupp reside at 8 Red Rose Drive, Levittown, with their three children; Pamela and Linda, age five and Robert, age two.

Private Plane Crashes On PMC Grid Field, 2 Dead

CHESTER, Pa. (UPI) — A small private plane plunged straight into the Pennsylvania Military College football field today killing at least two persons.

The plane was so compressed, however, that two hours after the crash the bodies had not been recovered. Officials said it was possible that there were more than two persons aboard when it crashed into the field just before football practice was to begin.

There was no immediate identification of the bodies other than one was a man and the other a woman.

Witnesses said the plane seemed to "fall apart" just before the crash. Except for the wings and a door, the entire plane was jammed into the ground at the point of impact.

barrier. Mal Spence of South Africa was third in the race.

Davis' feat, one of the most outstanding of the decade in track and field, followed two other highly important yankee performances.

—Rafer Johnson bounced back to grab a 144 - point lead over UCLA fellow-student C. K. Yang of Taiwan with three events left in the decathlon.

—Defending champion Al Oerter 225-pound New Yorker, led the discuss qualifiers by breaking his own olympic record with a toss of 191 feet, 8⅝ inches.

But the most astounding performance was Davis's victory — with the second - place Kaufmann timed in the identical clocking. Spence in third place was timed in :45.5.

Youth Treated For Cuts In Arena Mishap

Richard McHale, 18 of 2511 N. Leithgow St., Philadelphia, was treated for cuts of the right arm at the Lower Bucks County Hospital last night following a accident while riding in a vehicle at the Ferry Go Kart areana on State Road in Eddington.

He was released from the hospital following treatment.

Oil Burner Blaze Quelled In Bristol

An oil burner burst into flames early yesterday evening at the home of Bartholomew Kraus, 624 Spruce St., Bristol. Firemen from Consolidated Fire Co. and Goodwill Hose Co. No. 3 extinguished the fire without any damage except to the burner itself.

Bucks Roads Have Fatality Free Holiday

United Press International

American motorists put a show on the road during the Labor Day weekend — a show that killed more than 100 persons, but failed to reach the record levels that had been feared, a highway fatality count showed today.

Bucks County had a fatality free record on the highways with only minor auto mishaps reported over the long weekend.

With the count perhaps not complete at 10 a.m. e.d.t., but with only a few recorded fatalities of weekend holiday remaining untotaled, a United Press International compilation showed:

Dead in traffic, 411; drowned, including 14 in boating accidents, 104; dead in other mishaps, 82. The overall total was 597.

California led the states in highway deaths with 40, followed by Texas 28, Pennsylvania 24, New York 21, Illinois and Kentucky 19 each, Ohio 18, and Michigan and North Carolina 14 each.

Toll Tragically High

A National Safety Council spokesman at Chicago said the toll was "tragically high" and yet the overall record was "especially gratifying because there are 2½ million more cars on the road today than last year and 20 million more than in 1951.

"We are delighted that our estimate of 460 traffic deaths was too high; we wish it could have been 100 per cent too high.

"The drivers and law enforcement officers deserve a vote of thanks for holding the toll down below what the cold figures said it might well have been without extra effort by a lot of people."

Cite Repeated Appeals

In paying tribute to the work of press, radio and television, and to traffic law enforcement officers, the council spokesman pointed out an encouraging trend in the statistics to show that the weekend's repeated appeals to motorists for care in the homeward bound rush from resorts and holiday spots had not gone unheeded.

As of 9 p.m. e.d.t. Monday, last day of the holiday which began at 6 p.m. Friday, the hourly toll was running at a pace which indicated the toll would be right around the council's advance estimate of 460 deaths.

But the rate slackened off and the feared figure never was reached.

ments Mitchell and Martin answered questions in a session that lasted nearly three hours. The conference was held at the headquarters of the Soviet Journalists' Union and they were introduced by Mikhail Kharlamov, chief of the Foreign Ministry's press department.

Deposited In Bank

The first statement, read by Mitchell, was said to be a copy of an original they said they had deposited in Mitchell's name in a Laurel, Md., bank.

They said the statement, which explained their reasons for defecting, was made "without consulting with the government of the Soviet Union."

(Reliable sources in Washington said the statement has been in the possession of National Security Agency authorities for some time.)

The second statement, read by Martin, charged the U.S. government had suppressed the statement they had left behind.

"We can only explain this by the fact that the Eisenhower-Nixon administration does not want certain aspects of its policy to become known to the American people," it said.

In the question and answer period after their statements, the blond, crew-cut Martin was the more talkative but both appeared relaxed and confident in the glare of television lights and camera flashbulbs.

Their sudden appearance in Moscow recalled the case of two British diplomats, Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean, who dropped out of sight in 1951. They stayed hidden until 1956 when they announced their defection at a Moscow conference. They still live and work in the Soviet Union as editors in the Foreign Languages Publishing house.

Mrs. Neumann Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Winifred E. Neumann, of 428 Woodland Ave., Morrisville, died suddenly last night at her home.

The former Winifred E. Ferry, widow of the late George W. Neumann, she was born in Bristol and had lived in Morrisville 44 years. A life member of Morrisville's Union Fire Company No. 1 auxiliary, Mrs. Neumann recently retired from a position at the Y.W.C.A. cafeteria in Trenton, where she worked for 10 years.

Surviving are two sons, Edwin A. and Joseph A., both of Morrisville; two sisters, Mrs. William Sheaffer of Levittown, N.J. and Mrs. Leo Seifert of Jamaica, Long Island, N.Y.; and three brothers, William M. Ferry of Burlington, N.J.; Joseph A. Sr., of Bristol, and Leonard F., of Morrisville. Mrs. Neumann also had five grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held 9 o'clock Thursday morning from the J. Allen Hooper Funeral Chapel, 45 North Pennsylvania Ave., Morrisville. A Requiem High Mass will be sung at 10 o'clock in Holy Trinity Church, Morrisville. Interment will be at the family's convenience.

A viewing will be held tomorrow evening from 7 to 9 o'clock at the funeral chapel.

Man Reports Seeing Tiger

WILMINGTON, Del. (UPI) —A guard at the Hercules County Club reported he came face-to-face with a large animal early today on the club grounds and state police said that from his description it appeared to be a tiger.

State police sent six men to the scene to begin a search and asked local radio stations to broadcast a warning to parents to keep their children indoors.

Donald Steen, a guard at the club owned by the Hercules Powder Co., said he met the animal face-to-face as he came around the corner of a building at 2:29 a.m. He shone his flashlight in the animal's eyes and backed away.

Steen said the animal turned away for a moment but then started toward him again. Steen ran into a nearby building and watched through a window as the animal walked away.

President Returns To White House Desk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower was back at his White House desk today following a Labor Day weekend on the Potomac River with his son, daughter-in-law and grandchildren.

The President, his son Lt. John Eisenhower, daughter-in-law Barbara, and the four grandchildren spent three days on the river aboard two cabin cruisers, the Barbara Anne and Susie E.

They returned early yesterday afternoon after a seven-hour, 75-mile cruise up the Potomac. The homeward journey was marred by one brief shower, the only bad weather the presidential party encountered after casting off Friday night.

More Steel Men Idled

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Negotiators made a new attempt today to settle a strike against four subsidiary railroads of U.S. Steel Corp. which could idle an estimated 60,000 workers.

A fifth carrier, the Union Railroad, was struck by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (BRT) and United Steelworkers but no negotiations have been scheduled at that dispute.

Blast furnaces at U.S. Steel's five Pittsburgh area locations and in Cleveland, and Lorain, Ohio, were affected by the strike.

Railroads involved in the BRT walkout include the McKeesport Connecting; Donora & Southern; the Lake Terminal; the Newburgh and South Shore, and the Union Railroad.

The first work stoppage began Aug. 18 when the USW's 1,500 non-operating employes struck the Union Railroad. BRT members walked out last Friday. On Saturday, workers were called off the job at McKeesport, Pa., Donora, Pa., and Lorain. The Cleveland strike started Sunday.

Both unions seek a pay raise similar to that granted USW members in the basic steel industry last January. The companies, however, want to settle on a "national railroad pattern," about 18 cents lower than the steel average.

Holy Trinity School Morrisville, will reopen for the 1960-1961 year tomorrow.

School children from grades two to eight will begin classes at 8:45 a.m., according to school officials. First graders will report to school on Thursday at the same time.

Girls will be required to wear uniforms on the first day of school, officials said.

No Problem In Loveland

LOVELAND, Colo. (UPI) — Loveland, well known as "the sweetheart town" for its Valentine Day postmarks, has another claim to fame.

This progressive northeastern Colorado community tried out an experimental downtown shopping mall this summer, and liked it. Plans now are going ahead for construction eventually of a permanent mall, which city officials say will be the first in the Rocky Mountain West.

The project started when downtown merchants, fed up with traffic and parking problems and threatened with competition from a proposed outlying shopping center, decided to improve conditions.

The idea mushroomed into an elaborate, one-block garden, and the merchants — even some outside the downtown area — cooperated to put it over.
